Book Board: a solution to used book problems

Everyone has used text books sitting around that they wish they could get rid of but don't want to sell back to the bookstore for one half the cost.

The Book Board, located in the lower level of the Union next to the Bulletin Board, may be the place to get rid of used books.

"The Book Board will cut out the middle man," said Robin Baggett, ASI pres. "No longer will the bookstore be the only place to sell and buy used books."

The Book Board has been in operation for one week and is sponsored by the ASI officers. Roundhouse director, John Holley, is in charge of maintenance of the board.

"The Book Board is easy to operate," said Baggett. Students wishing to sell books fill out a card and hang it on one of the 80 pegs divided into different departments."

The empty cards are located on a peg next to the board. The seller fills out the book title, author and edition, course used for, asking price, name and phone number.

"The Union Board of Governors paid for the additional board area on the wall and the operation of the board is run at no cost to students," said Baggett.

Baggett compared the Book Board to the ride board started earlier this year, saying they work on the same principle. One student has a service to offer another so he posts it on the wall for others to see.

"As soon as students know the Book Board is here it will really go," said Baggett. "Students should start looking for next quarters books now."

Baggett said buyers should beware and check with professors to make sure they will be using the same books next quarter before buying a book off the board.

ISRAEL RETALIATES

Libyan 727 shot down

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israel said its Wednesday raid deep into Lebanon against the alleged hideouts of those responsible for the Lod airport and Munich massacres was a "preventive action" that forestalled similar attacks.

"The action was taken against persons who were being trained and equipped to go into the wide world and kill us," Foreign Minister Abba Eban said. "The action saved the lives of many who could become victims of those killers."

"It's part of the Israeli policy of taking preventive action," Eban added.

Eban made his comments only hours before Israeli fighter-interceptor planes shot down a Libyan Boeing 727, killing at least 74 persons, according to Tel Aviv reports. Israeli military reports said the airliner was downed after it refused the jet fighter pilot's orders to land when the plane strayed over Israeli-occupied territory in the Sinai desert.

Referring to the raid into Lebanon, senior officials said, "We have information of quite a number of plans, quite detailed and we believe that at least some of them were postponed by this raid."

Refusing to give details, he added: "I would say that it's a logical assumption to believe that such an action has forestalled quite a number of terrorist actions, spectacular or not."

The officer said the targets, two locations on the northern outskirts of Tripoli 126 miles north of Israeli territory, had a "long history" of serving as training bases for attacks abroad.

Classical music offered by cellist Gabor Rejto

A cellist who has appeared with the Vienna Symphony, Budapest Symphony and the Rome Philharmonic will be featured on this campus at 8:15 p.m. Friday.

Gabor Rejto will be the guest artist at the Winter Quarter classical series program sponsored by the Fine Arts Committee of the ASI.

The program will be held in Chumash Auditorium and is open to the public. Admission is $1.50 for students and $2.50 for all others. Tickets are available at the Union Information Desk.

Rejto, who has studied cello under Pablo Casals, will perform arrangements for unaccompanied cello by Bach, then join the university Chamber Orchestra to perform Haydn's

"Concert in D Major."

In the same performance, the Chamber Orchestra will present Beethoven's Eighth Symphony.

Rejto is a member of the Alma Trio and chairman of the String Department of the School of Music at the University of Southern California. He has performed in America, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Europe and South Africa.

Rejto has recorded on the Orion record label with his son, Peter, a cellist, and his wife, Alice, a pianist. He has also recorded on the RCA Victor Collection.

Union Plaza is site for play

An outdoor stage performance of "The Braggart Warrior" by the Orange Coast College Players from Costa Mesa is scheduled at 3 p.m. today in the Union Plaza.

"Braggart" (or "Miles Gloriosus") is a farcical play written by Plautus in 200 B.C. The Speech Club is sponsoring the production which is free and open to the public.

The group is touring San Francisco, San Juan Baptista and Santa Maria with the one hour long show. Under the direction of Bill Purkiss, instructor, the players carry their own portable stage set-up.

Gasoline leaks

DETROIT (UPI)—Gasoline leaking from defective fuel pumps has caused fires on at least 97 Chrysler Corp. cars, and the company announced Tuesday that it was recalling 149,066 vehicles to replace the fuel pumps.

Striking from the sea in rubber dinghies and by helicopter, the commandoes reported achieving complete surprise, killing several dozen guerrillas and virtually destroying their bases while losing eight wounded in less than two hours of fighting.

Lebanese ambassador Edouard Ghorra, in a complaint to the U.N. Security Council, said 30 persons were killed and 30 injured in the commando raid.

It was the deepest Israeli raid into Lebanon.

"Among those who trained at these bases were members of foreign underground organizations such as Kozo Okamoto and the murderers of Munich," a military spokesman said.

Okamoto was the survivor of a three-man Japanese suicide squad that killed 26 persons and wounded 79 at Lod airport May 30. Eleven Israeli Olympians were slain in Munich Sept. 5 by Black September guerrillas.

The Israeli military officer said there are several more bases of the kind targeted and that Israel will remove their threat if the Lebanese authorities do not or cannot.

"Activity abroad is now the main effort of the terrorists," the officer said, citing several foiled plots in Europe and Asia in the past three months. "We have to concentrate not only on defensive measures but also offensive."

One of the more important targets was inside a Palestinian refugee camp, the senior officer said, but the troops had orders to avoid shooting at women and children.

Students show Malay culture

Malaysian culture, including native food and costume, will be presented Friday at 8 p.m. in Tenaya Lounge.

Students on campus from Malaysia will be hosting this program of slides, artifacts and native costumes. They will talk about both the rural and urban cultures. Refreshments featuring the native foods will be served. Everyone in the community is welcome.

Malaysian Night is the third in a series of monthly programs sponsored by the International Students Section of the Women's Club here on campus. Future programs include Guatemala, Japan, Mauritania and Afghanistan.

For further information, Mrs. Douglas Genereux and Mrs. Robert Walters may be contacted at 544-7314 or 544-0685.

why does a man join Maryknoll?

There are probably as many answers as there are individual Maryknoll priests and Brothers. Some men are deeply moved when they hear of babies dying in their mother's arms because of hunger or disease. Others are distressed by the growing antagonism and separation between the rich and the poor nations. More are concerned about the great injustices that have been inflicted upon the poor by those who possess wealth and power to an excessive degree. Others lack to learn from people who have grown up with a different mentality than that which is theirs. All feel that the only solution to the crisis that threaten to split men asunder is the love of God as shown in the life of His Son, Jesus Christ. This love of God urges men to go forward and be missionaries as men can love one another. What could be your reason for joining Maryknoll?

If you keep saying you want to do something with your life — here's your chance to prove it

For information, write to Maryknoll Fathers, Maryknoll, New York 10046 (914) 941-7000

(Note: The San Luis Obispo Little Theater, Inc.'s presentation of William Alfred's "Hogan's Goat" was reviewed Sunday at the Monterey Street Theater, 1830 Monterey St. Two more performances are scheduled at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Admission is $1.75 for students, $2.25 for the general public and $1 for senior citizens. Tickets are available at the door.)

Someone must have combined all the intangible joys and sorrows of the Irish heritage into one bottle and sold the flask to Carol Sampietro for her weekend performance in "Hogan's Goat."

Though not the most substantial role in this two-act play written by William Alfred, Josephine Finn (Miss Sampietro) sparked life into the slightly static production Sunday. Miss Sampietro's portrayal ran blood deep, beautifully delineating the full scope of the passionate Irish-woman's character.

While other actors in the San Luis Obispo Theater, Inc., production over emphasized their Irish dialects and vocally trampled on their lines, Miss Sampietro danced over the intricately written, prose script with finesse. Her emotional transitions, from unrequited love and rage to despair and regret, were natural and with expertly calculated timing.

Another actress who wasn't bogged by the complex prose and who affected a realistic Irish accent was Barbara Ratcliffe (as Kathleen Stanton). She interpreted her character as a whimsical woman deeply in love but guilt ridden by her marriage outside of the Catholic Church.

Mrs. Ratcliffe was one of the few on stage Sunday to spot the subtle humor in the script. She played on the comedy lightly, carefully triggering laughter at precise moments.

Kathleen's husband, Matthew (Alan Ross) perfected an opulent, richly modulated Irish brogue for his performance. He kept the meter of the script flowing smoothly.

To appreciate Ross' oratory, it is best to lean back and close your eyes. Ross was stiffly awkward whenever he embraced his loving wife (who tried very hard to share her warmth with him). But his smooth, radio announcer's voice added authentic richness to the play.

Buck Jenkins (as Edward Quinn) had difficulty in timing his stage business, hindering his otherwise masterfully staged burley character. Playwright Alfred's dialogue seemed to get the best of Jenkins Sunday—the actor knew his lines but couldn't express them with ease.

Adding variety to "Hogan's Goat" was Father Stanislaus Coyne (Robert Knowles). Without checking the program, Knowles could easily be mistaken as a native Irishman imported for this role. His frequent and ungodly, hands-on-hips stance denied the audience from assuming he was really a man of the cloth.

The audience was treated again to Bruce Brown's resonant, baritone voice. As Petey Boyle, Brown tailored his singing style to suit the role.

Managing Director Ed Pinson's production of "Hogan's Goat" may not be his biggest box office attraction this season. Gaging local audience appeal isn't an easy task. As his short service with the downtown theater group ends, audiences will once again realize Pinson's discerning sense of theater with this Irish-American play.

Tensions have no place to go

Editor: The students of Cal Poly are being subjected to an energy crisis. Activities once available to them are now no longer present.

A student builds up much tension and frustration during the school week. There is a vast, combustible energy churning within him. If this energy is not vented and released, a highly unstable situation arises.

Remember the "TGIF?" It once served as a helpful release of student pressures. Since the "TGIF" is now extinct, how will the student release his energy?

A recent discovery, "The Crazy Horse," will soon be closed by the same anti-fun people who stole the "TGIF."

Is the power of those opposing forces greater than the energy of the student? If so, students beware! You may soon see more of your sources of energy release evaporate; stolen like the sun takes the dew from the morning lawn.

Brokers hit with conspiracy suit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department filed a civil antitrust suit Wednesday against the 4,400-member National Association of Securities Dealers and 18 other defendants, charging a conspiracy to control the mutual funds trade.

Also named in the suit were three mutual funds, their principle underwriters and nine of the largest securities brokerage firms in the nation.

The defendants include Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith; Hornblower and Weeks; Bache and Co.; E.F. Hutton and Co., and the mutual fund companies of Fidelity Fund, Inc., of Boston; Wellington Fund, Inc., of Delaware, and the Massachusetts Investors Growth Fund, Inc., of Boston.

Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said the eight-count suit charges violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Assistant Attorney General Thomas E. Kauper, chief of the antitrust division, said the alleged conspiracy had effectively prevented development of a "secondary market" in mutual funds.

The suit alleged that the dealers conspired to prevent brokers from dealing in mutual fund shares among themselves or from processing sales between customers at competitive brokerage rates.

A secondary market, Kauper said, could involve brokers handling sales between brokers or between customers and would involve competition in commission rates, which does not exist under the present system.

Run to produce funds

A five hour marathon relay will be held Friday, at Avila School to raise funds for the March of Dimes. The relay will run from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on the Avila School track and will involve approximately 60 students and the staff of the Functional Living Program.

For every lap of the track that is completed by students, a penny will be given to the March of Dimes by those pledging donations. Businessmen and residents of the community are urged to pledge money to this worthwhile cause.

The Functional Living Program is sponsored by San Luis Obispo Coastal Unified School District and Functional Living Incorporated and utilizes both public and private funds to provide a comprehensive rehabilitation program for mentally and physically handicapped adults of San Luis Obispo County.

for good business reasons

A young man with his eye to a future in enterprise looks to Army ROTC, for good business reasons.

The future belongs to those who prepare for it. It is no longer enough to be "in the right place at the right time". Success in a life choice now demands more than ever the right preparation. Education, of course, is essential. But the growing proportion of our national population going to college has lessened the diploma's role as an automatic entree to the best jobs. Employers are demanding something more.

Army ROTC offers that "something more" to the college man looking to his future. It offers an invaluable experience condensed into a quick time span. This experience can hasten personal maturity, develop better judgment in a demanding environment, and sharpen and quicken the ability to make the right decisions. Serving as an Army officer offers and demands responsibility. An officer is a leader, in fact and in deed. And American business and industry need and want proven leaders. They make every effort to find them. For good business reasons.
